The “2026 Shanghai International Industrial Materials Exhibition · Copper” (abbreviated as “Copper China”) serves as a premier international trade platform for the copper industry, uniting copper-based new materials, processed copper products, machinery, and auxiliary materials. By integrating high-quality resources from both domestic and international markets, the exhibition fosters connections between the copper processing sector and its key downstream applications.

The event facilitates technical exchanges, business negotiations, and academic discussions, empowering enterprises to explore new markets, identify business opportunities, and advance sustainable practices within the industry. With a focus on key market trends and buyer engagement, Copper China 2026 is dedicated to unlocking new trade opportunities and supporting the high-quality development of the copper industry.

Gain direct access to the vast Chinese and Asia-Pacific markets, allowing you to expand your customer base and explore emerging market opportunities.

Connect with high-quality buyers across copper processing industry and application sectors, increasing your potential customer pool and enhancing your chances of securing orders.

Elevate your brand's recognition and influence in the market, ensuring that industry professionals and customers become familiar with your products and services.

Participate in forums and technical discussions to stay updated on the latest industry trends, technological advancements, and market demands, helping you refine your business strategy.

Benefit from targeted business matching opportunities, enabling one-on-one interactions with potential partners and fostering valuable collaborative relationships.

Leverage the presence of international industry professionals to establish connections with global stakeholders, opening doors to new foreign trade opportunities.
